

4 COME TO SURFACE OUT OF THE SUNKEN BRITISH SUBMARINE

Balance of Crew of 86 Await Their Turn To Be Rescued

NO EXPLANATION GIVEN

Admiralty Insists All Are Alive and Well, But Hints at Difficulty

By Charles A. Smith
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 2—Leaving 86 of their shipmates 100 feet below the murky waters of Liverpool Bay, four members of the crew of the sunken British submarine Thetis emerged slowly to the surface by means of the Davis Lung today.

The balance waited their turn to be shot through torpedo tubes to grope their way to safety along a knot-studded life-line, equipped with helmets, oxygen containers and lifebuoys.

There was no official explanation of the long delay in effecting rescue of the 86 still trapped below the surface. The British Admiralty, insisting that all were alive and well, gave a hint of some unexplained difficulty below by announcing that salvage crews probably would soon begin pumping foul air out of the sunken submersible and fill it with fresh air.

It was stressed, however, that men will continue coming to the top with the Davis apparatus. Opening of the hull is planned merely to expedite the rescue and insure a supply of fresh air. If all cannot be removed with the breathing equipment, the Admiralty said, rescuers hope to use oxy-acetylene torches later in the day to cut a hole in the projecting stern and release the remainder.

D., collided as the Ensig car was going east on Wilson avenue. The Ponczek car was going west on Wilson avenue and is reported to have been on the left side of the road and crashed into the Ensig car.

WATCH CAREFULLY FOR COUNTERFEIT $10 BILLS

Watch all $10 bills. This is the word of caution given today by the Federal Government through the Bristol Trust Company.

It is stated there are a number of $10 counterfeit bills in circulation in Bristol and throughout the Philadelphia area. Two have been found here this week.

The Government says it is a "very dangerous $10 counterfeit, Federal Reserve Note."

"When you receive a green seal bill compare it with a genuine bill."

"The counterfeit portrait will be either too black or too light, and will lack the delicate detail of the genuine."

Exchange Club Told Of Manufacture of Spices

The history of the manufacture of spices was the topic presented to members of the Bristol Exchange Club last evening in the Elks' Home by A. C. Lauden Slager, member of the firm of J. L. Slager & Sons, spice manufacturers.

Slager told of the use of spices many hundreds of years ago and stated that the tombs of the ancient Egyptians contained spices, and these spices still had their natural contents.

Many samples were shown to members of the Exchange Club, and Slager told of the importation of the raw spices from the East Indies.

Black pepper, fluctuates terrifically in price, but it can be kept indefinitely. Red pepper, on the other hand will not keep very long, being subject to a type of worm. All other spices will keep indefinitely.

The speaker also told of many curious and odd objects that have been received in the shipments of the raw spices.

Next Thursday evening the Exchange Club will join with the Bristol Rotary Club and the Young Men's Club and the Kiwanis Club of Burlington in a joint meeting to be held in the Bristol Methodist Church.

Some Light On A Dark Subject

(By "The Stroller")

There was much conjecture on the part of passersby as to the bright automobile lights playing upon a certain burial plot in Bristol Cemetery, Memorial Day eve. But light has shed its rays as far as the desk of "The Stroller," so here's the tale:

It appears that a Wood street resident became interested in conversation while visiting friends that evening. As darkness approached he remarked that he had promised to go to the Bristol Cemetery to plant flowers on the family burial plot. But no number of suggestions that he start his task immediately, moved the visitor. Darkness descended, when one of his hostesses volunteered to aid in the work, so the flowers might be placed before the holiday. So three piled into the car, and were later joined by two others.

So the five, armed with trowels, watering cans, and plants, worked energetically in the cool of the evening, as the motor-car headlights provided the illumination.

The suggestion to the young man that he purchase some holly and place it at the same time so as to have the job done in ample time for Christmas, went unheeded.

JUNE MARATHON FOR LICENSES UNDER WAY

Expect All Records To Be Shattered in Number of Applications This Month

270 WERE ISSUED IN MAY

DOYLESTOWN, June 2—They're off—not for the races—but for the June marriage license marathon which will be in progress every week during the month, on the second floor of the Bucks County Court House. All records will be shattered during the present month or every prediction will be wrong.

During the month of May, for instance, a new all-time high for that month was established when the door closed leading to the office of the Clerk of Orphans' Court. The official tally for the month of May showed that a grand total of 270 licenses had been granted, or an average of about 10 licenses for every one of the 26 working days.

The altar-bound couples are not so much in evidence in person as are their applications. Nearly 80 per cent of the applicants apply for licenses through some Justice of the Peace or minister, who in turn mails the application to the office here.

No Definite Site Chosen For French-Wolf Operations

It was announced at the plant of French-Wolf Paint Products Corporation today that the company plans to resume operations, but no definite site has been determined upon.

Officials of the company whose plant was gutted early yesterday morning, have been unable to make a definite statement to their employees, until the place of resumption of operations is determined upon.

The plant was damaged to the amount of approximately $50,000 by the fire which kept firemen busy for several hours to prevent its spread to adjoining plants.

Yesterday some of the employees were put to work, clearing the floors of some of the debris.

The scene was visited last evening by a large number of people, who were attracted to the ruins.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

Back Of The Crusader

Washington, May 31. TWO members of Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet, each of whom has had more than a little public mention as a potential Presidential or Vice-Presidential candidate, have been touring the country recently from coast to coast—Mr. James A. Farley, the Postmaster-General, and Mr. Frank Murphy, the Attorney-General.

THEY present an interesting contrast, not only in their personalities but in their manners and methods. Clear-headed, frank and devoid of any sort of pretense, Mr. Farley's trip was wholly above-board. There was nothing up his sleeve, no ulterior motive in mind. He very openly was out to get first-hand political information from the politicians and there is reason to believe he got it. On the other hand, back of Mr. Mur-

Search for Kidnapper

Philadelphia, June 2—Search for the kidnapper of five-months-old Gerald McCrohan swung to suburban Darby today as detectives spread a dragnet for a woman believed to have seized the child from his coach at a busy West Philadelphia corner.

Captain John Murphy, head of the Missing Persons Squad, promised "important developments soon" as he and several assistants left for Darby shortly after dawn. The child, a premature baby, was snatched from his coach in full view of his sister, Margaret, 4, who was watching Gerald as their mother shopped.

"Today I am going to bring a full squad of detectives into this district," declared Captain Murphy. "It is my belief that when we solve this case, we might also solve the Gerald Bruce case."

The six-year-old Brusco boy disappeared several months ago from the same neighborhood, and the police have been unable to find any trace of him.

Police who made a door to door canvass of the neighborhood found several women who told of seeing a "blonde young woman" carrying a baby shortly after the abduction. Preliminary police theories were that yellow-haired, blue-eyed Gerald was taken by a woman who lost her own child.

$125 for July 4th Celebration

Expressing their complete approval and extending their fullest co-operation, 14 members of the Mill Street Business Men's Association, met in monthly session at the Keystone Hotel here last evening, heartily endorsed the proposed Fourth of July celebration for Bristol by subscribing $125, and it is expected that this amount will be tripled when all members of the Association have been contacted.

The celebration, originated by Anthony Russo and Chief of Police Jones, was explained in some detail to the members by Marty Green, member of the association, and also chairman of the program committee for the celebration.

Green pointed out that this celebration will present an opportunity to "sell our citizens America."

Outlining the program thus far, Green said that a flag raising ceremony at the post office in the morning, plus prominent speakers, will be included in the morning program.

The evening program will include a band concert, community singing, and a fire works display. The program will be held on the grounds of the Catholic Boy's Club on Pine street.

Edgar Spencer, president, was in charge of the meeting last evening. He urged the fullest support of every member of the association to make the Fourth of July celebration a huge success.

I. Wolson, chairman of the promotion committee, reported that plans for the Dollar Days, to be staged by the Association on June 16 and 17, were nearing completion. Announcement of the sale event will appear in the Courier of June 15th.

The membership committee stated that a drive for new members will be launched soon. It is hoped that every non-member on Mill street will join the Association. It is believed that a 100% membership will be attained before the close of this year. Those desirous of joining are requested to contact R. C. Welk, chairman of the membership committee.

A poll of members present last evening indicated that all felt that a trip to the World's Fair in a body would be highly successful. Plans for the trip are expected to be arranged by Ed. Wallace, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Decision was reached to continue the practice begun last year for members of the Association to close on Wednesday during June, July and August, beginning at one p. m.

CLASS NIGHT TAKES BRISTOL SENIORS BACK TO GAY 90'S

Those Who Will Graduate Next Week Make Merry Before Large Audience

RECEIVE RAMBLER PINS

Charles Scheffey is Winner of Mothers' Association Essay Prize

In costumes reminiscent of the "gay nineties," seniors of Bristol High School sported in a stage "picnic grove" on the occasion of their class night exercises last evening.

The presentation entitled "Memories," written by the class president, Thomas Collier, recalled to the older ones in the crowded high school auditorium, many old-time songs, such as "In the Good Old Summertime," "On a Bicycle Built for Two," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "It Takes A Little Rain with the Sunshine," and others. The production consisted of a prologue and two acts, the prologue and act two having setting in a Bristol home in June of 1939, and act one being in a picnic grove outside of Bristol, during the "gay nineties."

Taking the part of the grandmother in the prologue was Mary Watson; the grandfather, Thomas Collier; and the boy, Harry Erny.

The entire class participated in the presentation, throughout the course of which the class history written by Doris VanSciver and Mary Zuchero, was read by Wilbur VanLenten; the last will and testament of the class read by Martin Healey; the class poem composed by Robert Townend, read by Margaret Wilkinson.

An original monologue, by Herman Corn, brought forth much applause between the two acts, as did also the encore.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the Mothers' Association essay award, this cash gift being received by Charles Scheffey. The gift was presented on behalf of the association by the president, Mrs. Borchers.

Mrs. Borchers also awarded the pins to seniors who are members of the Ramblers staff, the school publication. Recipients of these are: Herman Corn, Gladys Welk, Doris VanSciver, Margaret Wilkinson, Mary Zuchero, Harry Erny, Franklin Reader, Martin Healey, Evelyn Flagg, Arthur Krames.

In appreciation of their devotion, aid, and advice, the class had purchased gifts for the two class advisors, Miss Mildred Fabian and Charles Utz. These were presented by the class president, Thomas Collier.

Three young men of the class announced the humorous items given to their class-mates, mentioning what the gifts were, and the reason for the choice, with much amusement ensuing.

The class president, after confessing that nine of the male seniors were members of the "hobby lobby" by virtue of incarceration in the hotel lobby for nocturnal prowling during the Washington trip

THE WEDDING MARCH MARCH

The strains of the wedding march will echo through thousands of churches and homes as the June days proceed. Blushing grooms march up to the altar, while the feminine portion of the audience issues its "ohs" and "ahs" in admiration of the lady's loveliness. Then the fateful words are said, and the vows are made to love and cherish until death do them part.

Love still dominates the world, but it takes a bit of courage to allow it full fruition now. Many young people are delaying this step because the business skies are not clear. There are plenty of courageous ones left who believe that Providence cares for willing and industrious folk.

Marriage is said to promote industry and good habits. The young man who has celebrated too freely now has a regulating power, which should check any too frolicsome wanderings. And the girl whose only thought has been on her dancing and make-up, should see that life is something more than that, and must be faced in a new spirit.

The question often arises as to whether young people who have quite limited incomes should marry. If they would compare their incomes with those their parents had when they married, they would find in countless cases that they have much greater resources. The cost of living has greatly increased, but if people were willing to live in a simple way as their parents did, and avoid the more costly pleasures, the small income might do pretty well.

UPSET ROYALTY

It is rather bewildering to discover that royalty, though subject to the shocks of political upheaval, should be liable to such prosaic mishaps as traffic collisions. Automobile accidents seem to be in the commoner's domain; but not even the Queen Mother can count on immunity.

The crash between Queen Mary's ancient limousine and a mundane truck tonight had serious consequences, for the 72-year-old lady had to be extricated from her upset car by a step-ladder. Bruises and shock will remind her for some time that modern traffic conditions are hazardous.

While everyone is worrying about the Queen Mother, we can't help wondering about that truck driver. It is no small thing to crash into a royal equipage; to smack into it broadside is worse, for it presupposes guilt. The accident, however, occurred at an intersection, and nothing is said in the dispatches concerning traffic lights. There is no such leveler of rank as a red light, and its presence or absence is the sign of the tale.

Man, says a Boston savant, is the only creature that plans for the future. And what's prettier than watching him weave a nest in the eaves?

Happy is the land of which a Duke can complain. "What ignorance! It seems to know nothing of the background of European affairs."

Wars will end when we have an encyclopedia and a history all peoples can read without getting mad.

If there were much call for it, outside the criminal bar, the unwritten law would be written.

Tonight, for one night only, Frank Staub and his popular dance orchestra will play in the new ballroom, "Dance Casino," at Willow Grove. Larry Potin and his 12-piece orchestra, whose mellow music made such a hit on the night of the grand opening of the new ballroom recently, will play in the Dance Casino for the other nightly dances. There will be dancing every night next week, except Sunday and Monday, to the tunes of Larry Potin and his orchestra with lovely Peggy Fox as vocalist.

Willow Grove Park is now open for the season, and roller skating is offered in Skateland every afternoon and evening.

Sunday at three, seven and nine p. m., Frankie Schluth will present one of his sparkling All Star Stage Shows.

Of course all the thrilling amusement rides, games, and the host of other entertaining features—including the real live ponies and the new swan boat—are available for your enjoyment every day and night until the "bed-time" hour of the park. The gorgeous Sousa Memorial Fountain of Rainbows will continue its nightly displays of color and light throughout the season.

started. I cannot tell where I will strike—but when I strike I will strike hard." It was all very impressive and a vast amount of pleasing publicity was gained. Mr. Murphy frequently was referred to as "our dynamic Attorney General" and the New Deal propagandists spoke admiringly of his "crusading spirit" and his "passionate love of right." Some of the lady journalists referred to him as "poetic," which somehow seemed the wrong note, but was intended to help nevertheless.

—O—
UNDOUBTEDLY an impression was made, but it would have been more favorable if while Mr. Murphy was engaged in this holy drive there had not been an outbreak of publicity concerning the concealed political motive. But the palace politicians were so full of admiration of their own cleverness that they could not refrain from confiding in their journalistic reflectors, who promptly put it in the papers. It seems that the real idea is to take the shine off young Mr. Thomas E. Dewey, who looms so large as a possible Republican Presidential candidate.

—O—
MR. DEWEY'S claim to consideration is his record as a prosecuting attorney. His success in breaking up the entrenched criminal gangs in New York and in convicting such powerful politicians as Mr. Jimmy Hines have made him an important political figure. His fight against Governor Lehman last year thoroughly frightened the Administration about the great State of New York, and made Mr. Dewey seem a formidable opponent for 1940. Cogitating upon the situation the political geniuses of the "inner circle" conceived the great idea of utilizing Mr. Murphy's much publicized "passion for purity" to outplay Mr. Dewey at his own game. With the kind of publicity the Administration can provide, with the assistance of J. Edgar Hoover and the ready-made cases of Pendergast, Manton and others, the argument is that in much less than a year Mr. Dewey can be made to seem a piker in the war against crime, and Mr. Murphy the really shining hero, who relentlessly battles against evil.

—O—
IT MUST be admitted that politically the plan is not without merit. For one thing, Mr. Murphy unquestionably does have a "passion for purity" and is the "crusading type." He spoils the picture by overpraising himself and overpublicizing his own righteousness, but that ought not to detract from the general desirability of the kind of "cleanup" he so widely advertises. Nor should the fact that he is addicted to publicity and self-praise and that there is a selfish political purpose back of the "drive" justify disparagement if he "goes through" and gets results.

—O—
IT won't do to dismiss Mr. Murphy's efforts merely because, besides being a crusader, he is also a professional politician with an oily and unctuous manner. If he gets results no one should begrudge any political benefit derived either by him or the New Deal. They will have earned it. However, more confidence would be felt if the advertisement were a little less blatant and the effort to overshadow Mr. Dewey not so clearly the inspiration. These things give the "drive" a slightly humbug flavor, to which the frankness of Mr. Farley's politics is a refreshing and palatable contrast.

Order Another Bus To Transport Twp. Pupils

Another bus for transportation of students of Bristol Township public schools was ordered at the June meeting of the board of directors in the Maple Shade school building last evening.

The new Mack bus will make three buses in all in use in the district. Several bids were received at the session. It was stated that the schools of the district close today.

James Robinson presided at the session.

There is no waiting in line. The office has plenty of clerks to take care of all applications, although the desks are a bit cluttered up with the early June rush. Saturday seems to be the most convenient time for altar-bound couples.

A survey of the May marriage license docket shows that close to 90 per cent of the applicants were non-residents of Bucks county. Since Pennsylvania has a three-day marriage law, many of the applicants come from New Jersey. The city of Trenton, for instance, furnishes almost as many as come here from Philadelphia.

Thirteen different states were represented among the applicants who came from as far away as California and Florida.

During May last year only 144 licenses were granted compared with 270 this year. One prediction made yesterday was that more than 350 licenses will be issued during the merry month of June.

The busiest place in connection with the marriage business in Bucks county is the office of Justice of the Peace James Laughlin, Bristol Township, where a total of 3545 marriages have been performed in 12 years. So far this year, Justice Laughlin has married 246 couples, and in April this year, he married 65 couples, his big gest month. In 1928, the first year that Justice Laughlin was elected to office, he married 28 couples compared to 246 so far this year with six months to go.

Returns from other sections of the county show that Justice of the Peace W. Carlile Hobensack and Justice of the Peace Irvin M. James, Doylestown, perform more marriages in the County Seat than anyone else.

Ranking second to Justice Laughlin, Bucks county's No. 1 marrying "squire" is Justice Neal Nolan, of Morrisville, who gets many couples as they cross the river into Pennsylvania from New Jersey. Justice James Guy and Ed Lynn, Bristol; Justice John Melvin, Fallsington, and Justice John Koser, Ardmore, perform many weddings, returns to the local office show.

China were known by the different colors of their pottery.

"In the year 900 porcelain was imported into Europe, particularly Venice. It was not until the 13th century that china was first decorated. And in 1640 earthenware was first made in England. The first porcelain was made in England in 1750, and the same concern, although it has changed hands, is still making porcelain in this English town today.

"Wedgewood was one of the finest pottery makers in England.

"The United States began its pottery enterprises in Trenton, N. J., in 1850. The industry began here because this city was a center of trading at that period. During the Civil War there were two companies operating in Trenton.

"The main industry in Trenton formerly was the manufacture of tableware and artware, but today the pottery plants are producing sanitary ware, the best of this ware being the vitreous china."

Lansing also told the Rotarians that the best china clay comes from England. In speaking of the making of china the speaker stated that there are two kinds of pottery, the opaque and the translucent. New uses for pottery of all types are being found every day Lansing declared.

Health Board Establishes New Quarantine Rule

The Bristol Board of Health has established a record of all communicable diseases reported here beginning with 1939 and this record is now on file with the Borough Health Officer, James H. Brooks. The record contains the names of all those who have been reported as having had a communicable disease during 1938, with a record of the case as to the name, age, residence, date of onset, date of quarantine and other details. This record is now to be kept complete and hereafter when a case of communicable disease is reported in a family, it will be only upon the authority of the Health Board that other members of the family are released from quarantine.

The Health Board last night adopted a resolution that hereafter other members of family which are quarantined will be released from that quarantine only upon the order of the Board. These records, beginning with 1938 are to be kept intact and will be filed for future reference.

During the month of May there were 10 cases of whooping cough, one of chicken pox, one of measles, one of lobar pneumonia, and one dog bite.

Quarantine is in effect at present in 10 cases of whooping cough and one of measles.

Eight new health certificates were issued to persons serving food or beverage in public places.

One nuisance was reported and has been abated. Six dairies were inspected and found to be satisfactory. Sediment tests of milk were taken and conditions of the milk supply found meeting the requirements of the law.
